Anything can be overdone when zeal is not kept within the bounds of reason. Not long ago at a recent election in Gorgia the majority was being swelled to such proportions by the returns that the more conservative Bourboons grew darmed and had to order a half, lest the majority would exceed the total number of Democratic votes. This may have been a cameral candian shore. Our driver told us it was been a cameral candian. So you may form some idea of the spring when their way to Camada. So you may form some idea of the spring with its thirty-two years and with the strong with its thirty-two years and with the supposition in the spring where they had a grand view from below.

and had to order a haft lest the majority would exceed the total number of Democratic votes. This may have been a campaign joke, but it contained some elements of truth.

The over-weening zeal of the Louisiana Democrats, however, has raised a nice little rumpus in the party in that Stat—in fact they have been hoisted by their own putard. In a recent election the Democrats of Tensas Parish stufled the ballot boxes to the extent of twenty-eight hundred votes. The total Democratic vote amounted to 3,800. According to the Moarce Bulletin, a Bourbon journal, the total Democratic vote amounted to 3,800. According to the Moarce Bulletin, a Bourbon journal, the total Democratic vote was not more than 1,000. This, of course, is but of a piece of the policy that has been pursued in many of the Southern States to make that section solid for the Democratic candidate for President; but when the newspapers of the South begin to kiek on the methods they refused to condemn, if they did not openly advocate, it is a sign that there is a more healthy sentiment in regard to the purity of the ballot springing up in that portion of the country; and it cannot grow in strength and power fast enough.

The Moarce Bulletin very naturally resents the iniquity of a fraud that gives to Tensas Parish, with 1,600 bona fide votes, 38 delegates to a Congressional convention, when a neighboring Parish (Ouichita) which cast 1,500 homest ballots is only entitled to 14 delegates. Still there are Democratic journals in the North that claim "there is nothing in this fraudulent ballot cry." It seems that there is, verified by the unimpeachable testimony of the papers of their own party in the South. The Bulletin closes a long article on these frauds with the following protest:

AN AMERICAN WONDER. An Account of an Excursion to the Falls

The scenery along the route was discussed, lively conversations, we believe entirely free from gossip, relieved the monotony of a day's ride on the train. Our hotel tickets, tickets of admission to all points of interest and even our hack hire were purchased on board the train, thus avoiding any confusion after hadding at Niagara. We arrived at our destination at about 7 r. m. when, after being shown our room, and being refreshed by supper that would satisfy the most fastidious epicure we repaired to Prospect Park to view the falls by the electric light. The park is arranged very tastefully, gardens, mimature lakes and grottos, besides beautiful fountains. The light was passed through various by the electric light. The park is arranged very insteadily, gardens, ministure lakes and grottos, besides beautiful fountains. The light was passed through various colored glass and reflected on the water as it played in various forms from a group of fountains. Every color of the rainbow was reflected to the eyes of the wondering crowd of excursionists, who were seated at some distance below to watch the splendor of this panorama.

After viewing this scene for some time we went to Prospect Point, which is close to the Falls on the American side. Here again the lights were thrown upon this immense volume of water, falling over a precipice 165 feet high, 100,000,000 tons passing over every hour. Red, yellow and green lights were thrown upon this immense sheet of water. We never realized tae poverty of our language to describe such a scene until we heard a voung miss in our rear say "It is perfectly lovely."

We had heard her use the same expression in speaking of a Malitese kitten on ome occasion, so this hardly come up to our idea. It was grand and magnificent beyond describtion. Sin:—Your correspondent boarded the train at Bridgeport, joining an excursion party en route for Niagara. The excursion was planned and managed by one of your citizens, Mr. L. C. Neidhardt. We found the party composed of groups from points below Wheeling as far as Sistersville, and the party composed of groups from points below Wheeling as far as Sistersville, and the shaft, and fitted with a hose like that of a watering pot, so as to deliver a the party composed of groups from points below Wheeling as far as Sisteraville, and from the various stations as far up Rochester. A mere party indeed! The majority were ladies, who were in for having a general good time, and have it they did. The scenery along the route was disensed, hively conversations, we believe entirely free from gossip, relieved the monotony of the size an active circulation of the six in that part of the room, which was drawn in at the upper opening of the shaft and issued again, cool and fresh, at the floor level.

The most surprising thing about the experiment seems to have been the effect of the water in cooling the air to a degree much below its own temperature. With the Mississippi water, which, when drawn from the service pipe, indicates a temperature of 81 degrees, the air of the room, in which the thermometer at the beginning of the trial stood at 90, was cooled in passing through the length of the shaft to 74 degrees, or about 20 degrees below the temperature at which it entered, and 10 degrees below that of the water which was used to cool it. Of course the absorption of heat by the evaporation of a portion of the water accounts for its refrigenting effect, but the result seems to have been so easily and inexpensively attained that the experiment would be well worth repeating in other cases.

The Wheeling INTELLIGENCE Reelebrated The Wheeling INTELLIGENCIA celebrated fis entrance upon its thirty-third year with a complete new dress of type. May it always look as well as it does now, and do as good work for the Republican party is our birthday wish for it.

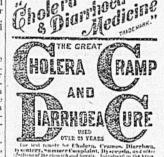

The testimony of many who long suffered from ill health, caused by an impure state of the blood, goes to prove that the best remedy for making the blood rich, red and pure, for beautifying the complexion, for curing sores, pimples and other skin diseases, for removing aches, pains, stiff joints, chematism, etc., for increasing the power of endurance, for giving health and strength to every weak portion of the body, is Dr. Guysott's Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla. Its effect pleases the user in every instance. No other remedy user in every instance. No other remed equals it.

"When a woman," says Balzac, "is no longer jealous of her husband, the end is come; she no longer loves him." It he-hooves all men, therefore, who would retain the affections of their wives to make the dear creatures as jealous as possible, and keep them so.—Boston Transcript.
